GERMANY GIVES HINT OF INTENDED OFFER OF PACT FOR PEACE

Von Ribbentrop to Be Charged With Resuming Discussion for Agreement—Clearing of Spanish Situation Lessening Tension—Britain's Rearmament Not Seen as Threat

BERLIN, March 8 (P).—Germany's Foreign Office hinted tonight of a forthcoming offer by the Reich to participate in a Western European peace pact. There was a marked spirit of optimistic belief that such a pledge by Europe's powers to keep the peace soon would become an established fact.

TO RESUME DISCUSSION

While officials declined to state the purpose of a Cabinet meeting scheduled for tomorrow, intimations in the highest political and official quarters indicated that Joachim von Ribbentrop, Ambassador to London, would be charged with resuming discussion of a new security pact. Optimism by a number of leading men with whom this correspondent chatted informally was based first of all on the conviction that the Spanish situation was clearing in such a manner as to lessen tension between Germany and her Western neighbors.

TO DECIDE OWN FATE

Germany now is apparently satisfied to let the Spaniards decide their own fate, provided they don't "go Communist." Control of foreign activity by the European Non-Intervention Committee, expected to get under way next week, will be bound to help insure General Francisco Franco.

SOCIAL CREDIT MOVE REJECTED

Motion Expresses Regret at Government's Stand on Wheat Selling

OTTAWA, March 8 (P).—Social Credit members today proposed an amendment to Conservative leader R. B. Bennett's budget amendment ensuring the Government for alleged failure to deal effectively with the unemployment problem, but Speaker Cargill ruled the sub-amendment out of order.

John Blackmore, Social Credit House leader, proposed the amendment which expressed regret the Government had denied Western wheat farmers the privilege of selling their produce to the Canadian Wheat Board unless the price fell to ninety cents a bushel.

SPEAKER'S RULING

The Speaker, however, ruled the amendment would have to stand by itself and receive consideration after the Conservative amendment. He took the ground, held also by Mr. Bennett, that it dealt with a matter foreign to the original amendment and that a new amendment should deal with the subject matter of the original amendment and not introduce something entirely foreign to it.

This view received support also from Justice Minister Ernest Lapointe, who asked for the Speaker's ruling.

SUPPORTED BY OPPOSITION

Nevertheless it appeared likely the Blackmore amendment, when it is presented, will draw support from all Opposition groups, just as the Conservative one gained support from the Social Credit and C.C.F. groups. Speaker's of all three Opposition parties during the budget debate have condemned the Government's action regarding the Wheat Board.

Alarming Earthquakes in San Francisco District Causes Minor Damage

Windows Broken, Chimney
Topped, Dishes Smashed
in East Bay Area

TWO GREAT BRIDGES UNSCATHED BY SHOCK

SAN FRANCISCO, March 8 (P).—An earthquake about half as strong as that of the devastating 1906 shock jarred San Francisco early today, left a trail of minor damage in East Bay cities and sent inspectors scurrying over the two great bay bridges, which were unscathed.

Windows were broken, chimneys toppled and store goods tumbled on floors in some East Bay areas, comprising Oakland, Berkeley, Alameda, Albany and Richmond.

There were no injuries, and no estimates of the damage, which also included household dishes and bric-a-brac knocked from shelves and broken.

Power Flume At Kamloops Swept Away

KAMLOOPS, B.C., March 8 (P).—A stream-operated auxiliary plant was supplying electric light and power to this interior town today as British Columbia Electric Railway Company workmen tried to replace 100 feet of the Batters power plant flume, swept away by a snow-slide Thursday last.

Power company officials said foundations of the flume had been washed out to a depth of fifty feet. Inaccessibility of the location of the slide was expected to delay repairs to the flume for several days.

MADRID, March 8 (P).—Insurgent General Francisco Franco hurried troops at Upper Guadalajara defences today in what was believed to be the opening phase of intense fighting for possession of Madrid.

After lengthy artillery preparation, tanks and infantry surged against the line stretching from La Toba, west of the Guadalajara-Aragon Highway northeast of Madrid, to Abades, farther east from that road.

Government officers declared the attacks were repulsed with heavy losses. Reports persisted the insurgents

Work to Be Done on Island Roads Under Amended Agreement

OTTAWA, March 8 (P).—An amended schedule of British Columbia highway construction, constituting part of the works included in the general relief agreement between the Dominion and that Province, was tabled in the House of Commons today by Labor Minister Norman Rogers.

The highway projects included in the new schedule are: From Vancouver to Revelstoke (trans-Canada), $431,590; from Parksville to Tofino, $40,000, and from Nanaimo to Menzies Bay, $42,210. Half of the cost of each is to be paid by Dominion and half by the Province.

Two Drowned in Wreck of Yacht On English Coast

C. S. Zolotohin, Husband of Victoria Woman,
Loses Life When Schooner Driven Ashore at Mouth of River Exe—Body of Woman
Found in Later Search

EXMOUTH, England, March 8 (P).—The body of a young woman, later identified as the Russian adventurer's wife, was found today at the mouth of the River Exe, a short distance from where the body of Constantine Serge Zolotohin was discovered yesterday after his small schooner was wrecked.

His mother made the identification of her daughter-in-law. It was understood here that Zolotohin, or Zolo, as he was known in Canada during his days as a Montreal newspaperman and member of the Alberta Provincial Police—has been divorced recently from his first wife who lives in Victoria, B.C.

(In New York, D. M. Martin, of Montreal, said he believed the young woman was Phyllis Durant, his stepdaughter.)

In the woman's clothing was found a wallet bearing a membership card in the National Union of Journalists, with the name C. S. Zolotohin and a London address.

CAUGHT IN GALE

The twenty-eight-year-old Russian emigre and his companion were caught in a gale in his forty-foot schooner.

Two Fatally Injured by Giant Wave

GENOA, Italy, March 8 (P).—Two persons were fatally injured, it was learned today, when the Italian liner Rex heeled over under the impact of a mountainous wave off Gibraltar in a stormy passage.

More than seventy were injured when the huge wave, described as "a mountain of water," broke over the vessel last Thursday.

A first class passenger, of Italian nationality, and a member of the crew died later from injuries.

BEAT U.S. NEUTRALITY LAW TO MEET DOOM IN BAY OF BISCAY

Steamer Asks for Immediate Aid and Tow to Home Port

BOSTON, March 8 (P).—United States coast guard headquarters tonight said the steamer William H. Moody, of Portland, Me., reported she was in a "dangerous position" off Cape Porpoise Harbor, Me., and requested immediate aid. The master reported he had ordered his ship anchored because of a disabled boiler. He requested a cutter to tow the Moody to Portland.

Lays Ghost And Miners Work Again

GERALDTON, Ont., March 8 (P).—John W. McKenzie, manager of the Bankfield Gold Mines in this Northern Ontario mining area, stepped out today and investigated a ghost story. There was nothing to the whole thing, he said. The story started yesterday when it was said three miners quit a mine because they saw a ghost—or an elf—while they were at work. Mr. McKenzie denied the story about a ghost in the mine. He checked up on the report, he said, and found no substantiation. All miners were at work as usual on company property today.

AUTO INDUSTRY HIT BY STRIKE

Plants and Hudson Corporation and Chrysler Motor Company Paralyzed

DETROIT, March 8 (P).—A sudden wave of sit-down strikes paralyzed Detroit automotive plants of the huge Chrysler Corporation—one of the industry's "big three"—and of the Hudson Motor Car Company, an independent producer, tonight.

The United Automobile Workers of America, an affiliate of the Committee for Industrial Organization, acted swiftly in spreading its campaign for control of the automotive wage-earners.

Chrysler executives rejected the union's demand for recognition as sole bargaining agency for the corporation's 67,000 employees.

THOUSANDS INVOLVED

Within two hours U.A.W.A. members "sat down" and halted production in most of the Chrysler, Dodge, Plymouth and De Soto plants in the Detroit area, making an estimated 50,000 workers idle.

Before this occurred, union representatives charged that officials of the Hudson Company were "stalling" in negotiations on working conditions, and called a sit-down strike of about 3,000 of the company's 10,000 employees. Union leaders claimed 1,000 or more held the plant tonight.

SOUTHERN ENGLAND

BLANKETED BY SNOW

LONDON, March 8 (CP-Havas).—Snow blanketed most of Southern England over the week-end. In Northern England and Scotland snow was less general but a sharp drop in temperature was recorded.

At Bridlington hundreds of tons of earth fell into the harbor as a result of a landslide, which forced the evacuation of several houses.

Raw Product Supply

Is No Corollary to Possessing Colonies

British Delegate at Geneva Attacks German Theory—Transfer of Territory Cannot Settle Problem of Lack of Basic Materials

GENEVA, March 8 (P).—Great Britain, through Sir Frederick Leith-Ross, her delegate, attacked today the German theory that possession of colonies solves the problem of raw materials.

Addressing the League of Nations conference studying the problem of more equitable distribution of raw materials to all nations, Sir Frederick stated in certain cases that Britain has paid more for colonial supplies than the price obtaining in the world market.

He argued food supplies were more vital to a nation than industrial resources, and announced that Britain was ready to encourage production within its colonial dependencies of raw materials desired by consumers throughout the world.

Spanish Government Freighter Loaded With Munitions From New York Sunk by Spanish Insurgent Cruiser—Some Ninety Miles From Destination—British Destroyer Solves Mystery

Confused SOS. Call Indicated Vessel Shelled Was British

LONDON, March 8 (P).—The Spanish Government freighter Mar Cantabrico, which raced out of New York on January 6 just ahead of United States congressional action to prevent her munitions cargo from reaching the Spanish civil war, met her doom today with her goal almost in sight. In the Bay of Biscay she encountered the Spanish insurgent cruiser Canarias, unit of the blockade attempting to prevent her from delivering her load of American-made planes and other war supplies to the Socialist Government.

Under bombardment of the cruiser's guns, the Mar Cantabrico went down in flames about ninety miles off the Spanish coast.

EAST ROCKED BY TREMORS

Ontario and Eight States
Report Earthquake—No
Damage Is Known

(By the Associated Press)
Eight States and a part of Canada were shaken badly this morning by earth tremors.

In each State the shocks were minor and little damage was reported, although they were sufficiently severe in many cases to awaken persons by rattling windows and shaking furniture.

Canada felt the earth shocks in Ontario. A distinct tremor was felt at St. Thomas shortly before 1 a.m. A London, Ont., woman reported she was awakened by a slight earthquake. No damage was reported in either case.

CENTRE IN OHIO

Rev. Joseph S. Joliet, S.J., head of the department of seismology at John Carroll University at Cleveland, Ohio, said the source was an upthrusting section of rock crust in the old glacial region of Northwest Ohio. He said the tremors lasted eight minutes and were clearly recorded.

Southwestern Ohio and Northern Kentucky felt two pronounced shocks. Huntington, W.Va.; Milwaukee, Wis.; Columbus, Ohio, and Chicago each reported buildings were shaken, but not dangerously.

Many Central Indiana cities and towns felt distinct shocks which lasted only a few seconds. Lafayette, Ind., recorded two successive tremors.

CHILD IS FOUND DEAD AT NELSON

Throat Wound Fatal to Young Baby—Mother Held in Interior City Jail

NELSON, March 8 (P).—Seven-month-old Ronald Donaghy, who survived twenty-four hours' exposure in a Nelson snowbank last January, was found in his crib at the Donaghy home today dead from a throat wound. The infant's mother, Mrs. Frank Donaghy, was held at the city jail under care of a nurse.

Donaghy, a bus driver on the Trail-Nelson run, discovered the tragedy when he returned from his last trip tonight.

The baby was found in a Nelson snowbank last January, a day after the family had moved to a new residence. Taken to hospital the infant was nursed back to health.

FISHING THREAT AGAINST PEACE

Washington Senator Warns
Congress of Invasion of American Grounds

WASHINGTON, March 8 (P).—United States Senator Lewis B. Schwellenbach, of Washington, warned Congress today that "threatened invasion" of American fishing grounds by foreign canning ships "may seriously jeopardize peace."

He appealed for executive action and recommended Canada and the United States join in hanging a "no fishing" sign on the edge of the North Pacific continental shelf for the benefit of foreigners.

He also suggested boycott or international regulation as a means of preserving the fishing industry and peace.

VITALLY AFFECTED

Schwellenbach said California, Oregon, Washington, British Columbia and Alaska are vitally affected by the threatened loss of salmon and halibut to foreign fishermen.

The three states, Canada and Alaska spent $16,101,270 the past ten years conserving fisheries resources. The Senator said. Manufactured canned fishery products for the same region were $97,159,000 in 1934. Fishermen received $37,160,000.

He said Japanese methods of offshore fishing had depleted fishing grounds off Siberia and that Japan now are looking to the North American continental shelf near Alaska for new supplies of salmon.

The Senator said the halibut fishing industry was threatened by British and Norwegian fishermen, who also operate floating canneries and refrigerator ships.

PREMIER FAVORS STRONG DEFENCES

Pattullo Says British Columbia Full Appreciation of Necessity for Defensive Measures

MONTREAL, March 8 (P).—Premier T. D. Pattullo of British Columbia said tonight in an interview he strongly favors Canada's adoption of "adequate" defensive measures. He started back home after a brief visit here.

"Exposed as British Columbia is, we have a full appreciation of the necessity for defensive measures," he explained. "In a world getting smaller and smaller by reason of rapid transportation, we must be prepared to look after ourselves within the measure of our capability."

Mr. Pattullo thought many young men and women could profitably undertake courses in discipline and training to achieve greater self-control and strengthened morale, rather than increase the urge to fight, he said.

Chamber to Sponsor Completion of Road To West Coast Port

Seven-Million-Dollar Pulp Mill at Port Renfrew Cannot Go Ahead Until Construction of Link With Jordan River

THE completion of the road between this city and Port Renfrew will be taken up by the Victoria Chamber of Commerce as a major project, directors decided at yesterday's luncheon meeting in Spencer's dining-room. In the absence of the president, Harold Husband, through sickness, the vice-president, Duncan MacBride, occupied the chair.

Action followed the reports of C. H. French, chairman of the road committee, and the reading of a letter from James Moyes, Port Renfrew, who pointed out that a seven million dollar pulp mill project at that point could not go ahead until the road and breakwater were constructed.

Mr. Moyes also urged action on the construction of a tourist camping park, the completion of the road from Jordan River, the preparation of land for settlement, and the arranging of weekly excursions to the Port. Unemployed labor, he pointed out, could be used on the breakwater.

ROAD ESSENTIAL

"Since mills, formerly here, have followed lumber operations that have reached north on the Island, we must look after our own hinterland. The road is essential to Victoria," asserted Alderman Strath. "The matter of the pulp mill is not imagination. Timber limits are already being reserved. But before we can get action, we must have the road."

A special committee will be appointed to investigate the complaint of the Victoria Trades and Labor Council, which alleges discrimination against the International Longshoremen's Association at the Rithet and Ogden Point docks.

FIRE DEPARTMENT CHANGES

Changes in the fire department, whereby the Victoria West and the Duchess Street Hall will be closed, were approved by the chamber, who have found:

1. That the change will cause no decrease in man power.
2. That efficiency has not been impaired.
3. That there is no increase in insurance rates.

Correspondence from the Duncan Board of Trade, asking that Federal funds be set aside for the improvement of the tidal and lower reaches of the Cowichan River, and that the chamber endorse their request was considered. Directors took the attitude that the matter should first be submitted to the Vancouver Island Fish and Game Association.

VICTORIA POSTOFFICE

Supplementary estimates totaling $45,000 to repair the Victoria Postoffice had been passed at Ottawa, and the building will be placed in the same condition as it was before the recent fire, James Parfitt, reporting for the executive of the building industries trade group, declared. He maintained that the chamber should point out the need for a new Federal building, endeavor to have one erected, and that the present building be fireproofed for the preservation of valuable records housed there.

It was also contended that the Federal Government should hereafter take out building permits.

The report was adopted. The chamber also endorsed a letter from the Merville Board of Trade, that asked that the scope of the Home Improvement Act be widened to include small mercantile business blocks.

ELECTION COMMITTEE

Directors endorsed six applications for membership in the Junior Chamber of Commerce from W. B. Dillabough, C. E. Glover, Richard

George, F. L. Sturges, R. C. Robinson and J. W. McManis

George, F. L. Sturges, R. C. Robinson and J. W. McManis, C. E. Macdonald, Robert Harvey, C. E. Armstrong, J. R. Angus, R. Raymond, Eldon Doe, Vernon Ridgway, John Baxter, George Morgan and B. A. Boate were named an election committee by the chair. Mr. Doe and Mr. Harvey had previously been received as members of the chamber.

A report on the recent convention of the Junior Chamber of Commerce was submitted by T. E. Watkins, president of the organization.

BROKERS ARE ACQUITTED

Judge J. N. Ellis Finds No Reason to Believe Intent to Defraud

The case of Rex vs. Gordon R. Mason and R. E. A. Diespecker, was concluded in County Court here, yesterday, before Judge J. N. Ellis, of Vancouver, who dismissed the charges against the accused. The allegation was that the defendants, well-known stockbrokers, had been guilty of a criminal offence in connection with the failure to deliver to Renard A. Martin certain shares which had been negotiated for through the office of the defendants. H. A. Maclean, K.C., appeared for the defence and R. C. Lowe for the Crown.

In giving his decision, Judge Ellis said that the evidence was overwhelmingly in favor of the accused, and that the Crown had not discharged the duty placed on it in such cases of proving beyond a reasonable doubt the offence.

His Honor said that he did not think the men charged were of the type that would deliberately defraud. "The evidence which had been brought before him convinced him that in all the transactions that had taken place, the defendants had conducted their business 'above board.'"

There must in such cases, he stated, be proof beyond the shadow of doubt. He reviewed the main features of the evidence, and expressed the opinion that after five or six years had elapsed, it was difficult to exactly recall the events that took place.

The friendly relations existing between the defendants and the informant throughout a large part of the history of the events, were given. The defendants at no time denied the responsibility for the debt, but freely admitted it. This, however, was far from constituting a criminal intent on their part, the court ruled.

SHARP EARTHQUAKE AT SAN FRANCISCO

The first shock, followed by lesser ones over a period of four hours, was recorded on the University of California seismograph at Berkeley at 2:31 a.m. The mild after-shocks occurred at 2:53, 3:41 and 6:57, said Prof. Perry Byerly, university seismologist.

Byerly said the main shock, the epicentre of which he estimated was "within twenty, probably fifteen miles," was of the fifth or sixth intensity, compared with the 1906 quake of the tenth intensity, which started the fire that virtually destroyed San Francisco.

No fires were started by the shocks this morning.

ALONG HAYWARD FAULT

Dr. Albert J. Newlin, seismologist at the University of Santa Clara, fifty miles south of here, fixed the epicentre along the Hayward fault, probably under the southwest portion of San Francisco Bay, which extends nearly fifty miles southward.

At least six store windows were cracked in Berkeley, where at many chimneys were toppled; bricks were shaken loose in some apartment buildings, and burglar alarms set off in two buildings, one of them a bank.

GERMANY GIVES HINT OF INTENDED OFFER

make his victory certain, it is felt here.

That, it is declared here, is all Germany is interested in. It is up to the Spaniards after that to determine their own future; Germany, therefore, can turn to other problems.

Britain's vast rearmament programme is not regarded as a threat to Germany's peace, but as an indication that Britain, like Germany, now realizes one cannot have a voice in international politics unless one is well armed.

British influence will be directed, it is felt here in unofficial circles, towards bringing about a "real peace" and insuring a security pact between Britain, France, Germany, Italy and Belgium.

Another reason for optimism is apparent in a conviction that, slowly and by determined effort by both sides, a more favorable atmosphere can be created between Germany and Czechoslovakia.

four-ton yawl. The craft was found stranded on sand at the mouth of the Esque river. His body was found then, but the young woman's body was not discovered until today, after a long search.

Weather conditions Saturday night were such that it would have been impossible for two people to navigate the vessel clear of the dangerous shore, mariners said today.

GROUNDING AT HIGH TIDE

Position of the Rona, when stranded, indicated it had been driven aground at high tide about midnight Saturday. When Zolotohin and his companion left Dartmouth Friday, for British Columbia, the weather was fine but visibility was poor. They were alone, except for a Great Dane dog, although ordinarily the craft would carry a crew of five.

At one time an employee of the Montreal Herald, Zolo was reported to be the son of a general killed in the Russian Revolution. He escaped from Russia with his mother in 1918, and spent three years in the Canadian North with the Hudson's Bay Company before joining the Alberta police and finally making his way into newspaper work.

WIFE RESIDES HERE

Constantine Serge Zolotohin, reported drowned at Esquimalt, England, was married four years ago to Janet Arden Lang, of Victoria. She did not accompany her husband when he left recently for England, but remained here with her mother, Mrs. J. Gourlay Lang.

The saving is MORE APPARENT than real

To appoint members of the family as executors may seem reasonable upon first thought.

They are the principal beneficiaries. They would look after their own interests. The executor's remuneration would be saved. Unfortunately, the saving is more apparent than real.

When they come to deal with probate duties, income tax returns, succession duty computations, appraisal of assets, selection and diversification of investments, and modern accounting practice, every step taken would prove perplexing.

With this Company as executor the assets of the estate are separated from all others. Make certain your dependents will enjoy that sense of security and relief which only an experienced trust company can bring to them.

Restoration of Aid From Government to Be Sought by City

Council to Prepare Brief Urging a More Generous System of Grants—British Columbia Agricultural Association Move to Be Blocked

A BRIEF will be prepared by the City Council and submitted to the Provincial Government through proper authorities urging a more generous restoration of civic grants, and a copy sent to the Union of British Columbia Municipalities, it was decided last evening. Alderman S. H. Okell moved the motion, which was seconded by Alderman James Adam.

Alderman Okell told the council the city received $137,578.22 less in government grants last year than during 1929. He blamed successive Governments for the heavy burden placed upon home owners. Alderman John A. Worthington suggested more action to secure 4 per cent interest on city indebtedness. Mayor Andrew McGavin declared the Port plan had almost been thrown overboard. Alderman Okell's motion passed unanimously.

Lengthy debate was held on a notice from the British Columbia Agricultural Association that a meeting would be held on March 16 to change the dates of the fiscal year and increase the directorate from six to seven members. A motion of Alderman R. A. C. Dewar, seconded by Alderman James Adam, that the council was opposed to any change in the directorate, was passed unanimously.

PROTEST CLOSING
After letters from St. Saviour's Church, protesting the closing of Victoria West Firehall, and from the E. & N. Railway, inquiring if insurance rates would be raised were discussed, Alderman W. Lloyd Morgan stated Fire Chief Alex Munroe would address a meeting of Victoria West Brotherhood on Thursday, at 7:30 o'clock, to explain the closing of the hall.

On recommendation of the lands committee, it was decided to tear down a dilapidated garage on the south side of View Street, and to condemn and demolish an old house on the northwest corner of Bay and Government Streets.

The city engineer was authorized to remove all metal buttons located at safety zones.

Tenders will be called for 1,000 feet of six-inch cast-iron water pipe, 2,200 feet of eight-inch and 1,000 feet of twelve-inch, to replace water mains on Gladstone Avenue, North Park Street and Begbie Street. Mayor McGavin stated the purchase was advisable because the price of pipe was rapidly increasing.

NO ANNUITY
A report of the inter-municipal committee that members were unable to recommend payment of a retiring allowance to ex-Magistrate George Jay, was adopted by the council.

Mayor McGavin and the city solicitor were asked to investigate a claim of Hans Kroeger that he broke his thigh through condition of a city sidewalk. A compassionate allowance may be made.

Authority was given the parks superintendent to remove every alternate boulevard tree growing in Eberts, Joseph and Wark Streets. Alderman Worthington voted against the move, suggesting the city solicitor examine petitions from those who were in favor of the tree removals.

Alderman Worthington announced he intended to take up the matter of preservation of wild flowers at Mount Tolmie and Mount Douglas Parks with the Saanich Council this evening.

MEETS DOOM AFTER BEATING U.S. LAW

at that time was estimated to be worth $2,700,000. She picked up more munitions at Vera Cruz.

The mystery ship, which carried from New York war supplies shipped by Robert Cuse, obscure New Jersey arms broker, provided one more mystery before plunging into the Bay of Biscay.

It still was unknown whether any part of her cargo was unloaded for the Spanish Lefist forces before her destruction.

When she sailed from Vera Cruz on February 19 her announced destination was Barcelona. Maritime circles here, however, said later she had been instructed to land her cargo at Bilbao, on Spain's northern, Bay of Biscay, coast.

It was feared she would be unable to run the insurgent blockade concentrated near the Straits of Gibraltar.

WAITING FOR DAYS

It was not known here whether the Mar. Catabrico had been able to reach Barcelona or any other Spanish port, but shipping authorities believed she had been waiting off the Spanish Coast for days, looking for a chance to sneak past the insurgent warships.

She was seventeen days out of Vera Cruz, where she was known to have loaded two more American-made warplanes and other supplies in addition to what she carried from New York.

Four British destroyers, the Echo, Eclipse, Encounter and Escape, which had raced out into the Bay of Biscay when the first SOS came in the call letters of a British liner, returned to their bases tonight.

CALL WAS CONFUSED

The confusion over the doomed ship's identity was apparently due to the fact that the Elder-Dempster liner Aba, homebound from West Africa to Liverpool, had sighted the flaming Mar. Catabrico and sent out the SOS under her own call letters, informing all the Eastern Atlantic that some ship was "bombarded, burning and sinking."

For a time it was feared the Aba's sister liner, the Adda, had been sunk, but her owners located her en route from Plymouth to Liverpool.

Production of Local Film Commences at Willows Studio

The grim walls of a modern women's penitentiary were "shot" at the Willows Studio yesterday morning, as Central Films, Ltd., began production of their seventh film to be made in this city. Other scenes were made during the afternoon.

The set, about which much of the principal action centres, has a background of a high stone wall. Before it is the jail courtyard. The grass supplied by Brown's Victoria Nurseries was lifted from a lawn in strips and laid especially for the scene. The ground, in which inmates were shown planting seeds, is composed of peat moss.

Alice Moore, leading lady of "Women Against the World," converses with a half-witted prisoner, played by Vivian Combe. Prisoners are supervised by Violet Wilson, as the matron of the prison.

Later, cameramen, property-men, sound technicians and the cast will work indoors, where 95 per cent of the production will be screened.

Yesterday Miss Moore and Collette Lyons, comedienne, accompanied by Director David Selman, William Brown, assistant director, and James Lloyd, chief grip, enjoyed the view from Harbor House, Sooke. All exclaimed over the scenery. "It should be publicized more," commented Mr. Selman.

Celebrities To Be Heard In This City

Maurice Hindus, authority and author of many books on Russia; Robert Halliburton, famous as a world traveler and writer, and Capt. John Noel, of London, England, a member of the last Mount Everest expedition, will all visit Victoria in the near future to commence Canadian speaking tours from this point, according to Ainslie G. McDougall, Boston, who is in charge of arrangements for them.

Mr. McDougall is the representative of Alber & Wicks, of the Boston celebrity bureau, and is accompanied by his sister, Miss Olive McDougall, New Westminster. They are registered at the Empress Hotel.

Captain Noel, who is a member of both the Royal Geographic Society and the Royal Photographic Society of Great Britain, will speak on the "Royal River," a topic descriptive of the Thames, and incidents connected with the forthcoming Coronation. He will lecture in Seattle, April 9, at the Museum of Fine Arts, and will arrive here shortly thereafter, coming direct from the American city.

Mr. Halliburton's topic is "Seven League Boots."

FINDS HOPE FOR WORLD IN SCIENCE

Dr. H. J. MacLeod Traces Evolution of Invention Through Years

MARKED ADVANCES IN THIS CENTURY

Mechanical invention and the conquest of distance during the reign of King George V were discussed by Prof. H. J. MacLeod, Ph.D., head of the department of electrical and mechanical engineering at the University of British Columbia, at the Girls' Central School last evening. Professor MacLeod's lecture, which was illustrated by slides, was given under the auspices of the University Extension Association.

Describing engineering "as the art of directing the great powers of nature for the use and convenience of men," the speaker sketched the civilization of ancient Egypt, Greece and Rome, which, he declared, had risen upon engineering achievements.

Professor MacLeod stressed the fact that modern industrialism was well under way before the industrial revolution, that the evolution from man power to mechanical power did not take place at that time, since there were 5,000 water mills in operation at the time the Domesday Book was written. The space of 150 years, in which the steam engine had been used, however, had marked a period unparalleled in world history.

REMARKABLE CENTURY

In the twentieth century, he pointed out, "we have seen the invention of the telephone, electric light, the gas engine, the automobile, the radio and the airplane." Professor MacLeod briefly outlined the evolution of flying, described the first aviation meet in Rheims in 1909, and the speed then attained of forty-seven miles per hour, described the progress of aircraft during the war and the great strides in flight since that time.

"There has been a striking change for the benefit of all peoples," he said, "yet the prospect of a better world has not been fully realized." He contended that while the past might have much fault to find with a universe seemingly bent on destruction, the great forward strides that

CIVIC TAXATION

It would be a good thing if the Mayor and Aldermen could decide on their city budget at the earliest possible moment each year so that property owners would know what they have to face in the matter of municipal taxation burdens. It is understandable this year that the authorities should be awaiting the outcome of the Fortin proposals because upon these will depend the tax rate to be struck. The point is, however, that each year there is procrastination in dealing with the civic budget and this should be avoided. Household expenses have to be budgeted for in advance and the citizens have every right to know as soon as possible in laying out their year's agenda what their taxes are going to be.

There is a prospect of reduced taxation for municipal purposes this year. There is to be a reduction in the expenditures of some departments. The Fortin scheme if it is accepted by the bondholders will mean spreading civic debt over a longer period through a system of conversion of bond issues at a lower interest rate. This will mean that the fixed charges for debt purposes will be reduced and the property owners will participate benefiting in proportion. The suggestion is that there should be a reduction of two mills in the tax rate. Even that would be a relief and possibly have the effect of reducing the number of properties that are reverting yearly.

It is reduced taxation that will have a tendency to lead to a growth in population within the municipal limits. Victoria's population has seemingly remained stationary for some years and the cause of this is not far to seek. The city indulged in too many expenditures on the strength of a progressive growth that has not materialized. The consequence has been taxation higher than the people can meet. This has led to the reversion to the municipality of large quantities of property which is now non-tax producing. Now that an adjustment is in prospect respecting debt there should be a full appreciation of what it is that is arresting Victoria's development. The construction industry and the incoming of new settlers can obviously be encouraged by lower taxation. In both of these factors, necessary to development, this city is in competition with its adjacent municipalities. The growth of Oak Bay and Saanich has been pronounced in recent years whereas that of Victoria has been arrested.

WAR AND NEUTRALITY

It is likely that many people in the United States are in agreement with the view expressed by Mr. Bernard M. Baruch concerning neutrality. That view briefly stated is as follows: If war should break out the United States as a neutral should refuse to lend money to any warring state, but should be ready to sell goods of all kinds, save munitions, to anyone who wishes to buy and can pay cash for the same, provided always that the purchaser shall carry the goods away in his own ships from the American port at which the goods are sold.

It is also likely, however, that a considerable number of people in that country will find great difficulty in subscribing to Mr. Baruch's opinion. Many will ask how Mr. Baruch proposes to carry on trade with the rest of the world if the United States refuses to accept anything but cash for its goods. Trade is barter, and if the Americans refuse to trade on the basis of barter, prospective purchasers will be compelled to look elsewhere.

Mr. Cordell Hull is one of the Americans who believe that the true American policy is to remove obstacles to international trade, that the isolationist policy of the United States has been mischievous in the past and will, if continued, produce further mischief, and that the spread of economic nationalism for which the Americans, through their trade policy, were pretty largely responsible constitutes a menace to the prosperity and even to the peace of the world. Many Americans now believe that the American trade policy of trying to sell for gold instead of accepting goods in exchange was one of the chief causes of the recent world depression.

SLANG

The very essence of slang is change. This is illustrated in the latest slang dictionary of which the author is Mr. Eric Partridge, a work which shows that the argot of the multitude exists only by constant death and constant renewal. Mr. Partridge, for instance, shows that the word "swish," born in the present century, is already dead, and that "posh," which was "good Wodehouse" in 1903, is now eschewed in polite society. It was Mr. A. E. W. Mason who, in "The Prisoner in the Opal," first used the word "blah" as being "mad" about a thing, meaning "gaga." Then, says The London Times, "lovers and those who laugh at them jumped at the chance of being or being called 'blah' about each other instead of the old and tedious 'cray over' or 'potty' or 'dotty'."

The Times, in reviewing the new dictionary, recalls that when Mr. D. L. Murray invented the word "tump" for rubbish, it was, according to Mr. Partridge, the running together of "tush" and "dum," and was a welcome relief from "tosh," or "bunk" or "tripe." It appears that it is not to men of letters and novelists altogether that slang owes its fountain flow of youth. It is recalled that the Gladstones and Lyttletons were famous for their family slang. There is the school slang, too, and that of sport. There is, as well, slang which never finds its way into a dictionary. Of this The Times says:

"A great deal of slang lives floating about in the speech of a family or set and never gets into print. That, maybe, is why Mr. Partridge allows 'litters,' but not 'having kittens,' and why he has nothing about 'throwing temperment' (theatrical for losing one's temper), 'making suitable noises' (saying the right things), or 'all hot and bothered.' But thus to point out omissions is curiously treatment of the very learned and lightning-minded scholar who has filled nearly one thousand pages with matter which, old or new, was and is as brief as woman's love and as changeable as her fashions in hats, whose book is packed with details of the more intimate lives and thoughts of all classes through many generations; and who, more wonderful yet, has found the explanations of some of the most wilful of these perversions of the obvious. At last we know the origin of that apparently idiotic and self-destructive phrase, a 'crashing bore.' It is an almanac's perversion of 'crushing.'"

AN IRISH EXAMPLE

In Ireland for many decades past, for many centuries in fact, politics and religions have had the reputation of being lived strenuously. Yet Ireland, back in 1875, furnished one example of how people can live in peace with one another whatever their antagonisms. Ballymoney, in County Antrim, was then put forward as an example to the world by The Coleraine Chronicle, and as an example of what it was then is quoted anew today perhaps of the unsettled state of men's minds. The Ballymoney of 1875 had Orangemen, Liberals and Home Rulers as its population, yet they all lived as agreeably together as if they belonged to one family of political faith. That was a time, too, when Home Rule had set so many people in Ireland by the ears.

In Ballymoney sixty-two years ago "the man who talked big about his party outside his chosen circle was pronounced a humbug." Politics were kept out of municipal organizations. Ballymoney was then described as one of the happiest towns in the Kingdom and The Coleraine Chronicle suggested that the Social Science Congress should hold an annual meeting there and "see how pleasantly good-natured men can get on together, although they do not see eye to eye on things political." Ballymoney seems to have set an example of what municipal life should be and how municipal government should be conducted. It is one that might well be cultivated everywhere and always.

SEELSORGER

The Berliner Tageblatt, says Dr. Robert Ley, Reich leader for Political Organization, intends to become Germany's "Seelsorger," which means, literally, "soul caretaker." Under dictatorship many exaggerated ideas are conceived as to the power of a State, but surely none so strange as that of moulding the souls of men by regimentation. There is an element of tragic-comedy in such a conception. The task, of course, is an impossible one, but that it should be entertained illustrates a mentality that is almost inconceivable. In Germany economic life is regulated, the people are made to sacrifice political liberty, free speech and freedom of the press have been invaded, and now the soul is supposed to be handed over to the State for safe-keeping. Nazism seems to be emulating Communism in some of its outlandish ideas.

Insurance statistics show that school teachers as a class live longer than any other group in the community. They are a hard-working class but their longevity is an illustration that mental labor need not shorten life. The Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation is finding quite a problem in this longevity and is having a hard time maintaining the superannuation fund.

AFTER MR. BALDWIN

In brief, though Mr. Chamberlain lacks many of the gifts of Mr. Baldwin—his superb electioneering skill, his reputation as a man of good will with Left Wing thought, his capacity to rise to the height of a crisis—he will bring to the task many qualities that Mr. Baldwin does not possess. He has immense powers of industry, an ability to infuse into the whole of his administration his own high standards of efficiency, and, above all, a courage that expresses itself in plain language followed by firm action. It may well be that just as Mr. Baldwin was the ideal man to carry the country successfully through the industrial turmoil of the last decade, so Mr. Chamberlain is the right pilot for the very difficult danger zone in foreign affairs that, with the year 1937, we are now entering.

Note and Comment

By Sandham Graves

It is a matter of technical dispute how long the big tree phase of British Columbia's timber and lumber industry will last. Some of the trees now being cut were seedlings in the days of King Alfred. There is no dispute, however, about the actual cut, and that has been increasing steadily in the last few years. Out of 2,500,000,000 board feet cut in the Vancouver forest district, including Vancouver Island, last year, 1,497,000,000 board feet was Douglas fir. In the year previous, the fir cut was 1,250,000,000 board feet. This year the largest single bite ever extracted in the Coast region fir may be taken out of the woods. For a three-year period ending this year, it is believed, the total cut in Douglas fir will not be far short of 4,500,000,000 board feet. The results, of course, are visible. Official reports of the Province show that last year through trade extension efforts sales of western hemlock increased 9 per cent, of cedar 13 per cent, and of Douglas fir 19 per cent. So much for the cut. Meanwhile, B.C. legislators have been told, 500,000 acres of the best forest lands in the Coast region have been cut and burned over, and will remain barren for years to come. A further 400,000 acres in the same region are only partially restocking. The Province is approaching the reforestation side of the problem first, and has called a meeting between the Minister of Lands and Crown graft operators for Thursday in the city. Present efforts are being addressed to reducing wastage by fire, promoting adequate reseedling, and strengthening the appeal on world markets for western hemlock and cedar. The coming conference will have before it the facts and figures of an aggressive and well-informed Provincial Forest Service, which for several years now has done much to invite attention to a condition which cannot long be ignored.

The Japanese—Department of Agriculture, say foreign news exchanges, has embarked on a campaign to teach farmers the art of raising cats for fur, as the basis of a fur coat industry. I trust they have not told the cats about this. The cats would undoubtedly raise their own fur.

At times circumstances are a little unfair to the politicians. Society must draw a distinction between policy and the man. Policy is open to discussion, testing, debate, analysis, and every other form of probe that can be imagined or suggested, and rightly so; but behind the policy there are at times men who, through the doctrine of Cabinet solidarity or otherwise, do not agree with the policy, yet cannot say so. Such men take a lot of verbal punishment in silence. I believe there are good politicians and bad politicians, earnest and irresponsible, sincere and insincere, wise and otherwise. It remains a case for nice discrimination. In the main, the public is best protected by watching what is done, rather than what is said. Words build no highways. I have tried always to follow the policy and not the man, the game and not the player; but at times the man becomes inextricably mixed up with the policy. That makes it harder. A policeman at Hyde Park corner solved this question neatly, and the story, though old, will perhaps bear repeating. For hours a fiery orator had advocated the overthrow of everything, from his soap-box platform at the famous London park. The orator culminated an impassioned harangue with an appeal to his public to fall in behind him and march on Buckingham Palace, to burn it down. The crowd threatened the orator. The Bobby stepped neatly into the breach. "Naow then, all them as wants to burn the palace fall in on the right; others on the left, and samst abaht it," he directed. In the laugh that followed, the crowd forgot the man. The Bobby had spotlighted the policy. That was wisdom.

The National Education Association of the United States was told last week of a machine that has been invented to mark examination papers, at the rate of 800 sheets an hour. Hundreds of fine electrical contacts press down on the papers, and when they come to a graphite pencil mark, current flows through the machine, indexing the answers into right and wrong; by their position in separate columns. All of which is very well, but here is the rub: students will be restricted virtually to "yes" or "no," and will mark even these preferences with a pencil tick in a special column.

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

(From The Daily Colonist of March 9, 1887)

The Cascade Division—it is expected that the Cascade division of the Northern Pacific Railway will be completed and passenger trains running to Tacoma in May. Progress on the local tunnel has been rapid and it is anticipated that it will be finished by the first of next year. It has not yet been decided as to the steamer service between this point and the Northern Pacific terminus, but it is thought that if the trade with Victoria continues as it is at present, a couple of fast modern steamers will be placed on the route, and every effort made to retain the trade.

The Weather—Yesterday's rain was, without doubt, the heaviest and most continuous that we have had this season. At times the water fell in torrents, naturally keeping people indoors, and the storm presented a rather ugly appearance. The drains and gutters were rather clogged, and in many cases overflowed the banks.

Quintessence Quartz Mining Co.—A general meeting of the Quintessence Quartz Mining Co. was held last evening. Sixty-five shareholders, representing 25,360 shares of the 325,250 live shares, being present. President Reid made a very favorable report, exhibited several splendidly mounted nuggets taken from the bottom of the shaft, which were pronounced to be very rich.

umn. Examinations are not over-flowing with meaning even in the best of systems. One can mark eye or nay through knowledge, or through guesswork. The machine cannot say which. If we really want children to learn to think, and I can imagine no higher aim, then the farther away we keep the machines, human or cogwheeled, the better.

GOLDEN GATE WANTS PIPERS

Premier Patullo and Mayor McGavin Invited to San Francisco Fiesta

Chester T. Arthur, personal representative of Governor Merriam of California, was in Victoria yesterday, bearing invitations from the Governor and the Mayors of California to Premier T. D. Patullo and to Mayor Andrew McGavin to attend the Golden Gate Fiesta, May 27-June 2, in San Francisco.

During his stay Mr. Arthur addressed directors of the Chamber of Commerce in Spencer's dining-room, and urged them either to send a float to San Francisco during the celebration, or the pipe band of the 1st Battalion, Canadian Scottish Regiment.

Vancouver, he said, was sending the Kitilano Boys' Band, while the celebration committee was personally sponsoring the appearance of a detail from the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, which will be housed in the Presidio cavalry barracks. "I was surprised to find the Mounted Police corps in the 'Dominion'," he commented. "I thought their activities were confined to the prairies and the Yukon."

The tourist business had brought Southern California $200,000,000 and San Francisco $90,000,000, Mr. Arthur pointed out. He stated the amount obtained had helped to balance a total loss of $195,000,000 sustained through the maritime strike and the failure of the orange crop.

In conclusion he paid tribute to the fine work done by George I. Warren, Commissioner, Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau.

Mr. Arthur left late in the afternoon for Montana.

A Fine Business
We read where Russ Morgan, popular radio maestro, had a little difficulty in getting his musicians on time, so he made use of a plan that always seems to work where musicians are concerned. He clamped a fine of twenty-five cents on all those appearing late . . . with the result only seventy-five cents has been deposited in the treasury since the order went into effect . . . It's funny how a small thing like a quarter can snap a man out of it.—W.I.F.

Quite a Difference

A news item stated that Vancouver gave the Department of National Defence permission to go ahead with hangars costing $221,000. About the same time the Federal Minister of Public Works wrote to the City Council explaining why the Federal Government did not intend to ask for permission through building permits to carry out any undertakings here . . . A woman executive believes that green is so unlucky she refused to accept a supply of green painted pencils for her department. But when a kind friend gave her a shamrock plant, that was different . . . Bill, the Broad Street barber, told us he was going to see the big animal picture at a local theatre. We told him no picture of that description was being shown here. "You're wrong again," he replied. "It's called 'Camel.'"

TENTATIVELY ELECTED PRESIDENT OF BOARD

BASEL, Switzerland, March 8 (AP).—Sir Otto Niemeyer tentatively was elected president of the board of directors of the Bank for International Settlements today. He has been a British member of the board since 1932.

CONSTIPATION IS A MISERABLE THING!

It takes the pep right out of you—makes you feel tired and irritable—ready to worry over the slightest thing.

Yet it can be corrected in most cases so easily. Common constipation is usually caused by lack of "bulk" in the foods you eat.

Millions of people have learned that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN ends constipation by putting "bulk" back in the diet. Within the body, ALL-BRAN absorbs twice its weight in water, forming a soft mass and gently sponging out the system.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN also furnishes vitamin B to tone the intestines and iron for the blood.

Two tablespoons daily as a cereal with milk or cream, in recipes, are sufficient. Three times daily in severe cases.

Sold at all grocers—and guaranteed by Kellogg in London.

Trans-Canada Trophy, One of Most Prized Aviation Awards of the Dominion, Was Donated by Late Dalzell McKee

OTTAWA, March 8 (P).—The Trans-Canada Trophy donated by the late J. Dalzell McKee, an award cherished by Canadian aviators, was won today by "Batt" Berry, a commercial pilot who has flown out of Edmonton into the North with freight and passengers for the past nine years.

The trophy is presented annually to the Canadian pilot considered to have made the most outstanding contribution to the advancement of aviation during the year.

The announcement by the Department of National Defence declared: Berry's record during 1936 was "a brilliant climax to many years' arduous, efficient and skillful service in Northern flying."

But the laconic Berry, when informed in Edmonton he had received the trophy for 1936, offered little comment. He was merely "delighted."

ON MERCY FLIGHT

Besides his regular commercial flying, the forty-nine-year-old pilot who obtained his flying licence nine years ago, engaged last fall in a thrilling mercy flight beyond the Arctic Circle to bring aid to Bishop Falaize and his party who became isolated on the Hornaday River in the Aklavik area.

Berry also engaged in the drama-filled search last year for Flight-Lieutenant Sheldon Coleman and his mechanic, L. A. C. Portey, who were found after being lost thirty-one days in the barren north of Edmonton.

His predecessors who won the trophy have all been outstanding pioneers on Canadian air routes. In 1935, W. M. Archibald, a Northland pilot, won the award and the year previous E. G. Fullerton, of the Royal Canadian Air Force, was the recipient. In 1933 Walter Gilbert, another Northern commercial pilot, was the winner.

The trophy was first donated by McKee in 1928 to commemorate a flight across Canada made by him and Wing-Commander Earl Godfrey in 1926.

CANADIAN BORN

"Batt" Berry is a Canadian by birth and spent much of his youth in Ottawa. He served in the Canadian Expeditionary Force as captain in the 153rd Battalion and transferred to the Royal Air Force in 1918. He made his first application for a commercial pilot's certificate on May 25, 1928.

Berry has been continuously employed since then in flying, chiefly into Northern Canada out of Edmonton, with the Northern Aerial Minerals Exploration Company, the MacKenzie Air Service and Canadian Airways, with whom he is still employed. During 1936, he flew 691 hours and 40 minutes, and his total flying time is approximately 7,000 hours.

During the last nine years Berry has flown almost steadily except for seven months after his only serious "crack-up." He suffered a broken back and other serious injuries when his machine nosed into the ground on a take-off. He was in hospital forty days and wore a cast on his back for five months.

Number of Passengers From President Coolidge Will Sail on Jackson

Owing to the collision which occurred in San Francisco Bay on Saturday last, when the Dollar Line Ss. President Coolidge rammed and sank the tanker Frank H. Buck, forcing the liner which was outbound to Orient ports with 675 passengers aboard to return to her dock for inspection, it is announced that as many of her passengers as can be accommodated on the Dollar Line Ss. President Harrison and the American Mail Line Ss. President Jackson will go forward this coming week-end to their destinations across the Pacific.

The President Harrison will leave San Francisco on Saturday, March 13, for Far East ports, and the Ss. President Jackson will sail from Seattle and Victoria on the same date.

LUMBER SHIPS

To load lumber cargo at Ogden Point piers, the Liberia Line freighter Ms. Rialto is expected first thing tomorrow, King Brothers stated yesterday. The firm also announced the British ship Swainby at Cowichan Bay tomorrow to stow Vancouver Island forest products.

ADDING NEW SHIP

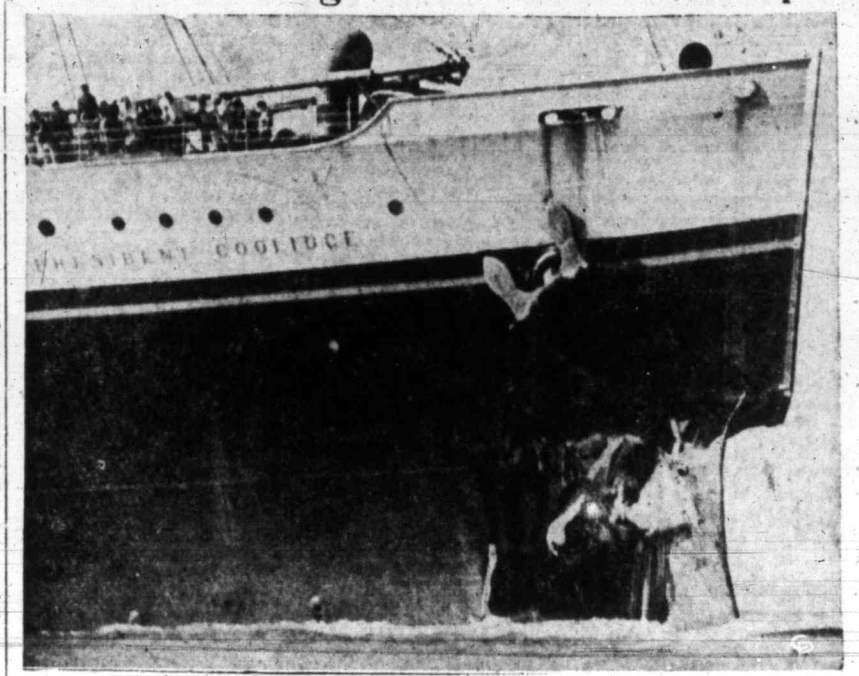

The Donaldson Line will augment its fortnightly service between the Pacific Coast and the United Kingdom with the new Salacia, fourteen-knot Diesel to be completed abroad and dispatched to this coast in August. She is a combination refrigerated and freight vessel with 9,000 tons deadweight. Rithet Consolidated are local agents.

Bow of Coolidge Shows Force of Impact

Missionary Bishop's Territory Covers Vast Area Of North Country

BUFFALO, N.Y., March 8 (P).—Through eyes weakened by the Arctic Winter, a missionary bishop to-night looked over the trim new plane in which he so will fly back to the Canadian North.

When his eyes recover, Bishop Pierre Falaize expects to resume the life of an Arctic churchman in the far Northwest. He took possession of his "missionary plane" here Saturday.

"You know," he said, looking out of the cabin window, "my territory goes all the way to the North Pole." He grinned through his black beard and added: "But I'll admit I don't often get up that way."

FROM WEEKS TO HOURS
"I will use it to take buffalo and caribou meat, fish and other food into isolated missions during the winter 'starvation period,' and carry medicine," he said. "The plane will reduce trips from weeks to hours. It has skis for landing on snow and pontoons for water."

An airplane saved the bishop's life last December when he was marooned in frozen wastes while on his way to his territory's eastern station, 1,150 miles east of the MacKenzie River.

The plane brought food and medical supplies to his party and carried eight members back to civilization.

HALIFAX, March 8 (P).—East coast signal service reported today the Halifax steamer Delia had been crushed by ice nine miles off Cape Race, the southern tip of Newfoundland.

Captain John Renouf, Halifax, and his crew of eighteen had abandoned ship and escaped to shore, the message said.

New Regulations Affecting Docking of Ocean Craft Published in Gazette

OTTAWA, March 8 (P).—New regulations designed to speed docking of ocean vessels bound for Canadian ports were published last night in The Canada Gazette.

The regulations provide that ships "bound for such ports as may from time to time be designated by the Department (of Penalties and National Health) may submit to the quarantine officer by wireless at the vessel's cost (health) information called for in such cases by the department."

They say "the quarantine officer shall, upon every such submission, instruct the vessel to proceed to its port of destination or to such vessel the place and time where and when it shall be subject to quarantine inspection. Any vessel proceeding without inspection or such instruction to proceed shall be held to have contravened these regulations."

BILL OF HEALTH
The regulations also provide the department may demand that a vessel clearing for Canada from an outside port obtain a bill of health endorsed by the official authority setting forth health conditions in the port of departure during the fourteen days before the vessel sails.

They provide masters or other ships' officials shall be liable to a penalty of not more than $400 for contravention of the regulations and that the vessel will be held liable for any such penalty imposed on its officers.

Further, officers failing to answer questions truthfully or submitting false information shall be liable to a penalty of not more than $200.

Repair Work to Start on Trans-Pacific Liner—Tanker Still Ashore

SAN FRANCISCO, March 8 (P).—Dollar Steamship officials ordered their $8,000,000 liner President Coolidge into drydock today as an aftermath of a ship collision Saturday that left the second vessel a derelict in Golden Gate channel waters. The Orient liner's passengers all were ashore.

Outcome of a dogged battle of men against the sea, striving for possession of the Associated Oil tanker Frank H. Buck, still was in doubt. After drifting seaward almost five miles following the collision in a heavy fog Saturday at a point not far from the Golden Gate Bridge, the tanker drifted toward shore again.

If it were decided to transfer whole continents.
In an apparent reference both to Germany and Italy, he asked whether difficulties of some countries in securing industrial supplies were not due "to their own economic and monetary policy," which put them in an inferior position. (Both nations exercise rigid control of foreign exchange and their national currency).

Leith-Ross condemned a policy of producing artificial substitutes (fostered by Germany under its four-year plan of self-sufficiency) as a heavy burden upon natural economy "and inevitably lowering the standards of life of the people."

The Great Distinction between Electrolysis and all other treatments for the removal of superfluous hair is that it is absolutely sure, and permanently destroys the hair instead of temporarily removing it from the surface; and the pain is just the ordinary stinging sensation peculiar to all electrical treatments, so truly there is nothing to be afraid of, not even the cost! IN BED FOR WEEKS WITH BACKACHE

Quick Relief With Kruschen

It was advice from her mother that led this woman to take Kruschen Salts for her backache, and before she had finished the first bottle she was feeling better. This is the letter she writes: "About this time last year I had severe pains in my back and was prostrate for three weeks. I could not even rise in bed. I tried several well-known remedies, but to no avail. Then I wrote to my mother, telling her of my trouble. She wrote to me by return of post urging me to try Kruschen Salts. I immediately bought a bottle, and I can truthfully say before I had taken the fifth dose I could sit up. I kept on taking them, and in less than two weeks I was about again. I am never without Kruschen now." — (Mrs. A. G.) Unless the kidneys function properly, certain acid wastes, instead of being expelled, are allowed to pollute the blood-stream and produce troublesome symptoms: backache, rheumatism and excessive fatigue. Kruschen Salts is an excellent diuretic or kidney aperient, valuable in setting the kidneys to excrete acid impurities. (Adv.)

Thieves Make Big Haul in Burglary Of Grocery Store

Thieves who broke into Kirkham & Company, Ltd., grocery store at 612 Fort Street, between closing time Saturday evening and 9:45 o'clock Sunday morning, smashed the safe open and escaped with money, cheques, stamps and a diamond ring. Entry was gained through the Chamber of Commerce and a ten-foot ladder to a skylight, police reported. A new four-pound hammer and wrecking bar were found beside the safe.

Stolen property included three cheques for $65, $300 and $800, several for smaller sums, a diamond ring valued at $125, $4 in stamps, $250 in petty cash, $500 of the day's takings, paid accounts totaling $200 and a Chicago Exhibition (1892) souvenir.

An investigation by Detective Inspector J. A. McLellan, Detective Henry Jarvis, Constable Thomas Stevenson and William Ostler, of the fingerprint bureau, showed two panes of glass had been removed from the skylight. The dial was knocked off the safe and a punch used in the hole. Exit was made through the skylight and Chamber of Commerce.

A large congregation gathered in Metropolitan United Church yesterday morning to witness the wedding of Chief of Police Thomas Heatley and Miss Margaret Watt Walker, recently retired policeman, which took place at 11 o'clock, Rev. WHY THIS PHONE NEVER RINGS

HOW EARLY her phone used to tinkle every afternoon at five! "Bob, Bob, your Bob is calling," it seemed to cry! But no more. Today her Bob is courting another. She sits alone and wonders...

Fickle? NO!

Only too often the explanation of a sudden and "unexplainable" neglect is "B.O." (body odour). Play safe. Keep pores purified, deodorized with regular Lifebuoy baths. You'll love Lifebuoy's rich, refreshing, deep-cleansing lather, so abundant even in cold or hard water. You'll find gentle Lifebuoy wonderful for the complexion, too. "Patch" tests on the skins of hundreds of women show it is more than 20% milder than many so-called "beauty soaps." Its fresh, clean scent quickly vanishes as you rinse.

When a woman cleans out her wardrobe at this time of year it's a fair warning that she's coming down with an early attack of Spring fever, curable only with something gay in the way of new clothes.

an instrument of the true artist, Miss Grant said, reading Carl Sandburg's "Fox" as an excellent example of this. The magic of words, although baffling and inexplicable, was often the essence of great work.

CONTEMPORARY VERSE

In comparing modern with contemporary poetry, Miss Grant mentioned the works of Massfield as an illustration of the modern's objective point of view, while contemporary poetry showed a definite trend toward the introspective. The influence of the nineteenth-century poet, Gerard Hopkins, may be traced through contemporary poetry, she said, and suggested even a hint of Shelley's style in some. Miss Grant considered the swing from the "physical" of the moderns to the spiritual of the contemporaries was a very encouraging sign.

The next talk, "My Book Shelf," by Mrs. Albert Sullivan, will be given Friday at 8 p.m. This series is sponsored by the Y.W.C.A. Girls' Council and is open to any interested girls or women without charge.

Jane Dixon Says:

A YOUNG WOMAN, IN LOVE WITH A MAN WHO TAKES TOO MUCH FOR GRANTED, SHOULD NOT MARRY HIM UNTIL HE HAS SHOWN THE TENDERNES AND RESPECT SHE DESERVES

A certain type of man takes an awful lot for granted. He tells a woman he loves her, and she is supposed to accept his declaration as law and gospel, no matter what he may do to shake her faith in him. When he pushes her into the background of his life in order to please his family or to carry on some out-moded social tradition or emotional entanglement, he expects her to grin and bear the bruise to her heart and her pride. He's hurt if she fails to come up smiling, no matter what he may have done to turn the smiles to tears. Such a man deserves a terrific jolt. Lucky the woman who has the stamina to give him that jolt. He'll set up a mighty clamor about it, but when he recovers from the shock and realizes the world and the woman are not his, he will stop gambling with happiness. He'll broadcast his true love to whomever will listen. Not only will he propose, but if the girl who administered the jolt shows the proper hesitancy, he will plead with her to marry him. That is her cue to say: "Yes, dear, but if I were you, I'd never let this happen again." And she should wear an air of mystery as she says it.

SISTER OPPOSES MARRIAGE

Dear Miss Dixon: Goodness knows I need help. My mother isn't the sort of person in whom one can confide, hence I must go elsewhere for advice.

I have been going with a young man for almost four years. I love him dearly.

My family is not poor, but is far from being rich. The young man's family—I'll call him R. L.—used to be very wealthy. Since his father's death they have been living on R. L.'s earnings, except for a little rent his mother gets on property she owns.

I have been in R. L.'s home a few times. His mother and sister are polite enough to me, but I have a feeling they think I am not good enough to be there, so I have stopped going. His sister has remarked frequently that I was wasting my time, and that she will go the limit to prevent her brother from marrying me.

When I first went with R. L. he was engaged, but he told me that he had broken the engagement. However, the girl in the case came from her home in a distant state to visit in his home. I was stunned when I discovered this, but I tried to be brave. R. L. came to see me, and stayed about a half-hour during her visit. He says he behaved this way only because he wanted to be nice to the girl who was a guest of his family; that he does not love her; that he loves only me.

Last Summer, R. L. was transferred by his company to another paying all expenses. I went. Was I wrong? I so wanted to see him, paying all expenses. I went. Was I wrong? I so wanted to see him.

We've talked about marriage a thousand times, but he never has come right out and asked me to marry him. The other evening he told me he was being transferred again, to another state. "You and I will get married before I leave," he said.

SHE HAS BEEN TOO SUBMISSIVE

Should I consider this a proposal and plan for my marriage? Would it be wise, with the difference in our families? He says to heck with our families—we'll have each other. So what?

I love R. L. more than anyone on the face of the earth, and feel I can't live without him.—Dee.

Answer: The young man appears to be a whole lot more of a problem than the difference in families. He has shown you a lack of consideration, which may be a reflection of his mother's and sister's estimate of you, but which you should never, under any circumstances, tolerate.

Your visit to him at his expense was a mistake. So was your supine acceptance of his neglect of you during the visit of his former fiancée—if she is former. You have done nothing to refute the charge of his family that you are inferior in pride and in breeding.

If you expect to marry this man and find happiness in the union, you should make no plans for marriage until he has shown you the tenderness and respect a gentleman holds for the woman he loves.

Weddings

WILKIE-BROWN

A pretty wedding was solemnized on Monday, March 1, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Brown, Wapella, Saskatchewan, when Grace, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Brown, formerly of Seven Oaks, Victoria, and Mr. James Wilkie, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Wilkie, Douglas, Manitoba, were united in marriage by Rev. J. Bitcon, Wapella. The bride entered the room on the arm of her father to the strains of the "Bridal Chorus" from "Lohengrin." Played by the bride's cousin, Miss Alice Brown. The bride was dressed in white crepe, embroidered in white, and carried a bouquet of white carnations and fern. She was attended by her sister, Miss Ella Brown, dressed in navy blue crepe. The groom's brother, Mr. Murray Wilkie, acted as best man. After the ceremony, dinner was served to twenty guests. The bride's going-away frock was of Coronation blue, trimmed with military braid. Mr. and Mrs. Wilkie left by train for Douglas, Manitoba, where they will reside. The bride received many presents, among them a lovely clock from the community.

MacKay, vice-principal of Margaret Jenkins School, will be presented by the Parent-Teacher Association of the school in the school auditorium on Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m. The second part of the programme will be concluded with a comedy, "Twelve Good Men," under the direction of Mrs. G. Pottinger. The programme will include:

ANSWER TO SUNDAY'S PUZZLE

What Today Means

"PISCES"

If March 9 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9 to 11 a.m., from 2 to 4 p.m. and from 7 to 9 p.m. The danger periods are from 7 to 9 a.m., from 5 to 7 p.m. and from 9 to 11 p.m. It is important that you have faith in your own ability to do things this day, for the right amount of self-assurance will enable you to accomplish whatever you undertake. This ought to be an auspicious day for you. The chances are something will transpire that will be beneficial for you in the near future. You, however, must not be reckless in any way, but should practice moderation in everything. There may be a temptation to talk too freely this day, so be guarded in what you say. Selfish life is full of danger for those who throw discretion into the discard. You cannot afford to make an error in judgment regarding your attitude towards anyone. You think twice before doing anything that might give offence. Be careful nothing warps your sense of justice, this day, particularly where children are concerned. Married and engaged couples, and those who are in love, must not be lacking in sentiment, if they wish to avoid giving offence before the day passes. If a woman and March 9 is your birthday, you are likely to be rather impetuous. Rushing headlong into things will be perhaps the principal cause of most of your troubles. You have probably a cheerful, optimistic nature. Your sense of humor ought to be well developed, and you should be quick to repartee. You should select your colors with care, for certain shades may have a better reaction on your spirits than others. Drab or leaden tinges might have a depressing effect upon you. You must see that the rooms you live in are cheerful, and avoid doleful companions. As a beatifican, interior decorator, artist, author, dietician or saleslady you should have no cause to complain as to your results. Your married life ought to be replete with happiness. The child born on March 9, usually averages high. Upon reaching its majority this youngster's progress towards prosperity is rapid as a rule. If a man and March 9 is your natal day, you may be inclined to go to extremes. Try to avoid this possible fault, for your happiness can become involved by it. As an inventor, mechanic, engineer, geologist, artist, journalist or architect, you may be remarkably successful.

KINGSTON, Ont. 9. — R. H. Boyce, Nanawee farmer, reports a purebred sow he owns had a litter of twenty-nine. Eight of the piglets died.

Heart Attack Ends Sensational Hockey Career of H. Morenz

Brilliant Centre Star of Montreal Canadiens Passes Suddenly in Hospital While Recovering From Broken Leg—Was Enjoying Great Season When Misfortune Overtook Him

MONTREAL, March 8 (P.)—Howie Morenz died tonight of a heart attack.

The thirty-four-year-old centre-player of Montreal Canadiens had been in hospital since he broke a leg here January 28 in a game against Chicago Black Hawks.

Howie's death came suddenly. During the last few days there had been reports he was not in the best of health, but there had been no indication death was near for the idol of Canada's hockey-minded youngsters for more than a decade.

Only little more than a month ago, the one-time "Stratford streak" propped up on a hospital bed pillow, advised an interviewer, "don't count me out yet." He was through for the season, he said then, but he was coming back next year.

BROKE HIS LEG

That was just a day or so after he had slid into the boards at the end of one of the reckless bursts of speed that had gained for him the reputation as the fastest National Hockey League player on skates. The tip of one of Howie's blades became wedged in the boards as he fell underneath a Hawk defenceman, and his leg snapped cleanly.

For the cannonball centre, that was the end—temporarily, he thought then. And it was the end, too, of one of the finest comebacks the big leaguer had ever witnessed.

For Howie then was on his way to the top again, and very close to it after a brilliant resurgence from the hockey doldrums. And his fire and drive on the attack were doing much to carry Canadiens back to their old place at the top of the N.H.L.

Until this season, Morenz had been slumping for three years. After seasons of glory when he and Canadiens were skyrocketing along together, Howie hit the skids in 1933-34 and he was traded regretfully by his old team to Chicago Black Hawks.

He was no success there, separated from his mates of the Flying Frenchmen, and he went to New York Rangers, where he played in different last season. "You know," he said not long ago, "there was something missing inside when I was away the last two seasons. I got it back again when I came back with Canadiens."

It was with Canadiens Howie broke into the big time back in 1923, coming by way of Stratford, Ont., where he had developed his blazing speed on skates as a junior. He was a native of Mitchell, twelve miles from Stratford.

GREAT SCORER

In his first ten years in the National Hockey League, Howie never failed to finish among the first ten scorers. Twice he led the league, in 1927-28, when he amassed fifty-one points, and in 1930-31, with the same total.

Through those years he was steadily with Canadiens. He did not leave the Habits until his trade in 1934.

After he left, his old manager, Cecil Hart, also left the Canadiens. Hart did not come back until this season and it was he who decided to bring Howie back to the scene of his greatest days.

LESTER PATRICK SPEAKS

NEW YORK, March 8 (P.)—This is a terrible loss to organized hockey," said Lester Patrick, manager of New York Rangers in the National Hockey League, today, when informed of the death in Montreal of Howie Morenz, of the Canadiens, rated one of the all-time greats of the game.

Last year Morenz played with Rangers.

"Myself and everybody in hockey are going to feel a deep sense of personal loss at Howie's death," Patrick declared. "He was one of the all-time greats of the game and it was only for the good of the game that the Rangers let him return to the Canadiens he loves so well.

"I knew he was in bad shape, but his death comes as a great shock."

CONNY SMYTHE TALKS

TORONTO, March 8 (P.)—News of Howie Morenz's death came as a shock early today to Conny Smythe, admiral of the great centre flash. It was a great loss to sport, the manager of Toronto Leafs in the National Hockey League said.

When first told of Morenz's death in Montreal from a heart attack, Smythe was at a loss for something to say. Later he said:

"I can't believe it. It has been rumored so often and we hoped Howie was getting better."

"I certainly feel sorry for his family, for Howie thought a lot of his young boy, who surely will miss him."

BUXTON, HENRY TRAIN TONIGHT

Heavyweight Boxers Will Go Through Paces at Tillam Gymnasium

Principals in the ten-round main event of Thursday's boxing show, Henry Buxton, Victoria heavyweight, and Ed Henry, Los Angeles, will work out this evening at the Tillam gymnasium. Buxton is scheduled to go through his paces at 7:30 o'clock, with the Californian following thirty minutes later.

Tim Keist, Victoria welterweight, who battles Allen Franks, Bellingham, in the six-round semi-windup, and Joe "Kid" Kaiser, former Calgary boy who makes his local debut against Young Corpus, Seattle fighter, looked good in work-outs last night.

Keist worked seven rounds, throwing gloves with his brother, Kaiser, and Jack Patterson British Columbia amateur welterweight champion. The boys really mixed it and the fans received quite a bang out of the work-out. In company with Sonny Buxton and Ed Hughes they will train again this evening. The public is invited to witness the work-outs.

EXPLANATION FOR SUNDAY'S RIPLEY CARTOON

$355 Earache—Recently, Miss Vivian Daly, of Chicago, age 17, suffered a strange earache, which became more acute day by day until she was forced to remain out of school. It continued to get worse until an ear specialist was consulted. Probing the ear with a fine forceps, the doctor—much to the surprise of Vivian and her father—pulled out an unset diamond, which Mr. Daly quickly recognized as the same diamond that cost him $355 when he purchased it for Vivian's mother many years ago, and which had been lost for eleven years. Mrs. Daly lost the stone out of its setting in 1925, while working around her house. She looked for it high and low, but could never figure out what happened to it. Vivian, then a child of six, playing on the floor, had picked up the stone, stuffed it into her ear, and promptly forgot about it.

THREE MONTHS IS SUGGESTED

Sept. 15 to Dec. 15 Proposed as Dates for Deer Shooting Season

Buck deer, with a season's bag limit of three, will be lawful game on Vancouver Island for three months during 1937, if the wishes of members of the Victoria Fish and Game Protective Association are adhered to. Meeting yesterday evening at the Chamber of Commerce, the association, after considerable discussion, set September 15 to December 15 as the dates for the season, and voted down a motion which favored the shooting of does.

The question of farmers killing pheasants on their land in and out of season, and one that has often been brought up at some length. After many members had expressed their views on the matter it was decided to support the resolution prepared by the Covichan Fish and Game Association which read as follows: "That all shooting of pheasants and other game birds be prohibited during the closed season, except by authority of individual permits issued by the game warden to whom actual damage to crops has been proven on Vancouver Island."

The resolution and the proposed dates for the deer hunting season will be brought up at the meeting of the Affiliated Fish and Game Associations of Vancouver Island at Nanaimo, Tuesday, March 23. The Victoria Fish and Game Protective Association will be represented by President Frank Moore, Secretary Jack Falkins and George Beck as official delegates.

LATE HOWIE MORENZ

Of the Montreal Canadiens, and ranked as one of the greatest centres in the history of hockey, who died of a heart attack in his home town last night, in the hospital where he was recovering from a broken leg sustained several weeks ago during a National League game. Howie was having a great season when misfortune overtook him. He pivoted the veteran line of Aurel Joliat and Johnny Gagnon, one which had a great deal to do with the Flying Frenchmen pacing the Canadian section by a good margin. Morenz played here in 1925 as a member of the Canadiens against the Victoria Cougars in the Stanley Cup final. LOCAL HOOPMEN DEFEAT DUNCAN

Moyle-Brown and Canadian Scottish Register Basketball Victories

(Special to The Colonist)

DUNCAN, March 8.—Moyle-Brown and Canadian Scottish, Victoria hoop squads, registered victories here tonight in the first of the home-and-home games for the Lower Vancouver Island basketball championships. Moyle-Brown defeated Duncan, 38-30, in the men's senior "B" division, while the Scottish trounced Duncan High School, 32-12, in the intermediate "B" section.

With Jack Caddell and Pete Campbell setting the pace with fourteen and ten points, respectively, Manager Frank Shandley's "Old Men of the Mountains" had too much scoring punch for the home squad. The Victorians led, 16-10, at the halfway mark and wound up on the right side of a 38-30 score.

Turning on the pressure in the final stanza, Coach Carl Coates' Canadian Scottish hoopers trounced Duncan High School, 32-12. The score at the breather was 10-4 in favor of the visitors. B. Lovell, Pricker and B. Martin shared the point-getting honors, each accounting for thirty of the thirty-two points. Kenneth and C. Twohy, Duncan, and Bob Macmurchie and Tommy Macedo, Victoria, officiated.

The teams: Duncan—Smythe (7), Collier (9), Fletcher (4), McDonald (6), Harbord, Dirom, Haines (4), Kennett and Mortimore, Total, 30.

Moyle-Brown—Caddell (14), Levy (2), Fleming, Campbell (10), Paterson (2), Jones (4), Morgan (4) and Elliot, Total, 38.

Duncan High School—Van Norman (6), Jaynes (2), Mann, Thorpe, Mainguy (2), Weicker, Robertson, Stears, Charter and Best (2), Total, 12.

Canadian Scottish—J. Myrrea (1), Pricker (10), S. Martin (1), Purdy, Whyte, B. Martin (9), McColl, B. Lovell (11) and Fair, Total, 32.

PLAY TOMORROW

Walter Yeamans, Island delegate of the Victoria and District Basketball Association, announced last night that the final games will be played at Victoria tomorrow evening. The Canadian Scottish and Duncan High School will meet at 7 o'clock, to be followed by the Moyle-Brown-Duncan men's senior "B" attraction. Victoria High School gymnasium will be the scene of the battles.

Benefit Matches For Daisy Waugh

NANAIMO, March 8.—In a benefit game for the family of the late "Daisy" Waugh, who was killed in the mine on New Year's Eve, an all-star team from the Mainland will meet Nanaimo City on March 21. Nanaimo was refused permission to try out two Cumberland players, as that club is not affiliated with any league. Permission was granted, however, for the city to stage a two-game series with Victoria United, on dates to be set later.

HAGEN IS BEATEN

WELLINGTON, N.Z., March 8 (P.)—A. J. Shaw, New Zealand open champion, beat Walter Hagen, United States pro, 1 up in a challenge golf match, for $250. Shaw had a medal card of 72, one stroke lower than "The Hail."

Belfast Cup Soccer

BELFAST, March 8 (P.)—In Belfast Cup soccer games played today, Bangor defeated Cliftonville, 4-3, and Newry Town blanked Distillery, 3-0.

DETROIT SNIPER IS SETTING FAST PACE IN NATIONAL HOCKEY

Sharpshooting Winger Ahead of Toronto Rookie as Team Swings Down Home Stretch—Has Forty-Two Points—Barry Third With Forty, Schriener Next With Thirty-Nine Points

MONTREAL, March 8 (P.)—It's Aurie by a nose over Apps as they come down the National Hockey League's home stretch.

Young Sylvanus, of the Toronto Maple Leafs, is just a point behind Detroit's sharp-shooting Larry in the race for scoring leader, thirty-Tonight's official league statistics give the Red Wings twenty-two goals—his tops in that division—and twenty assists.

Apps has thirteen goals, and his twenty-eight assists put him at the head of the class as a helper-out.

Oddly, it is a teammate of each leader who trails the other in goals and assists. Harvey Jackson, of the Leafs, is second to Aurie in goals with twenty, and Aurie's linemate, Marty Barry, comes behind Apps with twenty-four assists.

Barry's forty-point total puts him in third place in the totals, and Sweeney Schriener, of the New York Americans, is another one behind him, Jackson, with thirty-seven, stands two below Schriener.

The penalty parade is still a one-man show for big Red Horner, of the Leafs. His 112 minutes of exile leave him twenty up on Allan Shields, of the Bruins.

NANAIMO WILL PLAY HERE SATURDAY

Up-Island Eleven To Oppose United In Macdonald Cup

Coal City Footballers Will Make First Appearance of Season Against Victoria Squad at Royal Athletic Park in Opening Match of Home and Home Series—Kick-Off Set for 2:30

Victoria soccer fans will get their first glimpse of intercity competition this year on Saturday afternoon, at the Royal Athletic Park, when Nanaimo City steps on the field to clash with Victoria United in the first match of a home-and-home series for possession of the Macdonald Cup. Bill Cull has been appointed to handle the game and will swing the teams into action at 2:30 o'clock.

To date only one out-of-town squad has been seen here this season and that was St. Andrews, on Boxing Day, and on that occasion the Victoria boys turned in a smart victory after a brilliant display.

When Nanaimo takes the field one curly-headed youngster who played the pivot position for the Up-Islanders in masterly style will be missing from the line-up. The player referred to is the late "Daisy" Vaughn, who was the victim of a mine accident in Nanaimo on New Year's Eve. He was always liked here by the fans and will certainly be missed from the Nanaimo line of attack.

TO SELECT TEAM
Manager Ed Whyte stated yesterday that the Victoria eleven will be chosen within the next day or two.

READY CASH IS NOW FAVORITE

V. H. Smith's Horse Replaces Royal Mail as First Choice in National

LONDON, March 8.—V. H. Smith's Ready Cash replaced Royal Mail today as favorite for the Grand National after Lloyd Thomas' eight-year-old had failed to finish better than third in the Worcester Park steeplechase Friday.

Ready Cash was quoted as 12 to 1. The ten-year-old son of Knight of Kilcash has made some impressive performances in early season events. He fell in the 1934 Grand National but ran prominently behind Southern Hero in the Scottish Grand National at Bogside in the same year. He did little racing in 1935 and 1936.

SECOND CHOICE

Royal Mail remained in second place in today's callow of odds at the Victoria Club, coupled with Miss Dorothy Paget's Golden Miller, winner in 1934. They were quoted at 100 to 8, followed by Delachance and Dioric 100 to 7, Pucka Belle 15 to 1, Ego 20 to 1, Spinoud 22 to 1, Pen-craick and Misdemeanor 11 28 to 1 and What Have You 50 to 1.

Another favorite was replaced in the callow for the Lincolnshire, to be run March 17, two days before the Grand National. Major J. S. Court-aud's Montezano, at 100 to 7, replaced Martin Benson's Laureat II, who was coupled with Nip Away in third place at 100 to 4. W. Joet's Take My was in second place at 15 to 1.

Other Lincolnshire odds: Edgell 18 to 1, Voltus, Scotch Trout and Judo 20 to 1, Lost Scent 28 to 1, and Pricket 33 to 1.

Bruins Score 1 to 0 Win Over Rangers In Bruising Game

Rookie Produces Deciding Goal Against Lester Patrick's Team Over Week-End—Leafs Held to Two-All Draw by Chicago Black Hawks—Americans Turn Back Detroit Red Wings

By A. E. FULFORD

Canadian Press Staff Writer

There was only one undecided berth in the Stanley Cup line-up today—thirteen days from the National Hockey League's schedule end. Five teams are sure of play-off spots and Chicago Black Hawks will have to perform a modern hockey miracle to oust New York Rangers from the picture.

New York Americans did much to settle things by losing to Montreal Maroons, 4-3, Saturday night in Montreal. That put Red Dutton's fighting team definitely out of the play-offs and left the only Canadian section fight the battle between Maroons and Toronto Maple Leafs for second place.

But Chicago refuse to be tossed out this early. They held Leafs to a 2-2 tie in Chicago Sunday night and retained the slimmest possible chance of finishing ahead of Rangers. If they win their next five games and Rangers lose all, the Hawks will tie them in points and take the third spot in the American Division by a better win average.

Neither Boston Bruins nor Detroit Red Wings can be beaten out of play-off spots. Bruins made sure of getting in by taking a 1-0 decision from Rangers Sunday night and moving three points up on Lester Patrick's team.

A 3-1 overtime win over Montreal Canadiens in Toronto Saturday and the tie Sunday night put Leafs on even terms with Maroons for second place. Red Wings could have made positive of first place in the American Division by beating Americans last night, but the New Yorkers took them, 3-1, in Detroit. The world champs need only one more point to make it impossible for Bruins to catch them.

CARR SCORES TWICE

Lorne Carr really defeated the Wings with goals in the first and second periods. Pete Kelly made it close for a while in the second, but Neil Stewart came through with a goal that put the game away for the New Yorkers.

Amerks gave everything they had at Montreal in an effort to stay in the fight and the clash provided some of the most bruising hockey of the week-end.

Maroons had to come from behind to snatch the victory, starting the third period they trailed, 2-1. Stewart and Tommy Anderson having scored for the New Yorkers and Baldy Northcott for Maroons. Then Gerry Carson, Earl Robinson and Stew Evans barged through for goals and the best Amerks could do was one counter by Happy Emms.

A rookie from Kitchener, Ont., Woody Dumart, provided the only goal of the Boston-Ranger game. Like the American-Maroon game, it was a body-thumping duel, and the heavier Bruins came out of it in better shape. Dumart's goal came with only a minute and a half of the third to play.

JACKSON SCORES

Harvey Jackson thrilled 14,300 fans in the Maple Leaf Gardens with the winning goal against Canadiens, Charlie Conacher and Paul Haynes each had given their teams a counter in the third, and the overtime was only two minutes old when Jackson worked with Jimmy Fowler and Syl Apps for the winner. Fowler made it sure with a lone effort shortly after that, Canadens lost the services of Toe Blake, who broke his right wrist.

The assist Apps got on the Jackson goal and another he picked up in Chicago Sunday night left him only a point behind Larry Aurie, of Detroit, the league leader, who failed to score in the game with Americans. Apps' assist at Chicago came on Conacher's second-period goal which tied the score at 2-2; Frankie Finnigan had scored his second goal of the season in the first and Pete Palangio had matched it. Then Paul Thompson beat Turk Broda in the second to set the stage for Conacher's tying counter.

A workout of the J.B.A.A. Rugby effort will be held this evening, at Macdonald Park, at 8 o'clock. All players are asked to turn out.

Security Prices Fairly Firm at New York Mart

NEW YORK, March 8 (AP).—Fresh strike in the automotive industry took some of the starch out of the stock market today, although mines, oils and utilities did more than their part to keep the list on the upgrade.

Although steel and motors suffered an early relapse, their deflection was not so noticeable in view of a substantial forward stride taken by the rails. They stumbled in the final period. Other categories assumed leadership, but extreme gains were reduced in numerous instances before the finish.

Trading activity was greatest in the first and last hours. Transfers amounted to 3,175,170 shares compared with 2,811,140 last Friday.

Mining favorites were given a run when Domestic Copper was boosted 11-4 cents a pound to 161-4 cents, a new top since 1930. Export red metal was also lifted, as were quotations for lead and zinc.

Bond prices worked lower in a fairly active market. Federal obligations occupied the centre of the heavy pressure area with losses ranging to 3-4 of a point.

In the foreign quarter a few of the South Americans finished a bit higher and a number of others were about even.

WHEAT FUTURES SHOW STRENGTH

WINNIPEG, March 8 (P).—Taking leadership from Chicago on reports of dust storms in the United States, winter wheat fell, wheat prices advanced 1-4 to 1 cent on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today in late trading.

After a dull session, May closed at $1.28 7/8, July $1.24 7/8 and October $1.13 7/8.

Weakness in Liverpool and Buenos Aires markets carried values lower in early trading. However, offerings were light and prices quickly followed the Chicago trend as little buying was required to lift prices. Export business of Canadian wheat during the week-end was estimated at 250,000 bushels.

Liverpool closed 11-2 to 11-4 lower. Buenos Aires closed 11-8 to 11-2 lower.

Cash wheat and coarse grains markets were dull. Trade in coarse grains was influenced by the action of wheat.

CULBERTSON ON CONTRACT

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

My mail bag during the last week has produced some particularly gratifying contributions. Laziness does not happen to be one of my virtues, and therefore, my appreciation for the interesting hands sent me from hither and yon is not based on the fact that they make this column easier to prepare. It is simply that I feel that hands which these correspondents thought interesting enough to report will be similarly interesting to readers. Today's hand comes from Boston, where some of the finest contract in the country is played.

CHAPTER XXV

Heather stole a terrified glance at Mathews. Their honeymoon! Somehow she had never thought of a honeymoon with Henry Mathews.

"You're kind," she told herself, but it did not help, and there was a long silence, which even Henry made no attempt to break until at last he said, slowing the car a little, "I'm not sure which way we turn here. There ought to be a sign-post."

It gave her a breathing space, so that presently she could smile again and say, "I believe I'm hungry, and that's dreadful, seeing that I had quite a good breakfast."

Mathews glanced at his watch. "It's only twelve," he said, but she shall be there in a half an hour."

He talked an ordinary subject after that, drawing her attention to the countryside, telling her that his grandmother was born in a village close by and what a fine woman she was.

"I can't remember my grandmother," Heather said. "I can't remember any relations. My father and mother were both only children."

"Your father's a fine man. I've a great respect for him," Mathews said firmly.

Heather took her courage in both hands. "You know he hasn't any money?" she asked timidly.

Mathews laughed. "Bless my soul, of course he hasn't," he said heartily. "He's just a child. If you gave him ten thousand pounds tomorrow, he'd be broke in six months." He did not think it necessary to add that more than once he had helped Caesar out of a "temporary embarrassment," or that he was quite prepared to continue to do so.

He drove up with a flourish to the old Royal Lion Hotel in the steep High Street of Lyme Regis, and turned to give Heather his hand. His eyes said proudly, "My wife," as he followed her through the low doorway, and it would almost have broken his heart could he have known the coldness of hers, and the effort it was to face him across the table and to smile.

She thought passionately, "If only I could love him." It would be such a happy solution, but one which she knew would never be realized.

Afterwards they drove for miles through the country, where already the trees were showing the first touch of autumn. They did not talk very much, and Heather was glad.

They were still some miles from The Haven when heavy drops of rain began to fall. Heather started when Henry said, "Enjoyed it?"

"It's been lovely—so peaceful."

"The best day I've ever had," he said simply, and then as the rain increased he suggested stopping at a small wayside cottage where they could get tea. There was a fire in the small sitting-room, and they had tea in its warmth and watched the pelting rain on the windows. It seemed to get dark very quickly, and Heather said restlessly, "I think we ought to start back, don't you?"

Mathews stood up. He looked very big and clumsy in the tiny room. "Before we go," he said huskily, and stopped.

Heather looked up at him; she knew what was coming, and she tried to smile as she met the intensity of his eyes.

"They used to call it 'naming the day' when I was a youngster," he said.

For an instant she felt her whole body shrink from him, then with an effort she held out her hand. "When you like," she said.

Mathews' kindly face grew very red. "October the eighteenth is my birthday," he said. "If you feel you could marry me—for a birthday present."

She wondered if he saw the trembling of her lips. "October the eighteenth, then," she said gently, even while her heart cried out, "Not quite two months in which to belong to myself."

He raised her hand to his lips awkwardly, and when his lips had touched it she drew it quickly away. Bruce had always kissed her hand. Even after all the years she had forgotten how often he used to hold her hand against his lips and kiss the soft palm.

They drove back through the falling rain almost silently. Effie saw them from the window and ran to the front door. "I'm glad someone's come," she said. "Bruce and I have had tea all by ourselves, and the others are all out. Bruce got here by an earlier train, and drove from Weymouth in a taxi. He's brought me a huge box of chocolates."

She hung on Heather's arm as they went to the drawing-room, where Bruce stood with his back to the fire. He came forward and shook hands with Heather and then with Henry, who had followed.

She went upstairs to take off her hat, followed by Effie. "Where is Vilette?" Heather said.

"She came in to lunch, and brought Dick with her, and he's not half bad," Effie said ingenuously. "But he wouldn't stay after lunch, and when he'd gone, Vilette went out with Bobbie. Did you have a nice day?"

"Very nice. We went to Lyme Regis." Then abruptly, "Why did Vilette go out when she knew Bruce was coming?"

Effie shook her head. "I think she didn't expect him so early. She went out with Bobbie."

Heather went to the window. "They'll be wet through," she said. "Oh, no, they won't. They took the car."

Effie looked at her toes meditatively. "Bruce didn't seem to mind when he found Vilette wasn't here," she said naively.

"Why should he mind?" Heather held out her hand. "Come along, let's go down. They'll be in directly."

The wind had risen almost to gale force, and down on the sands the big waves were breaking in clouds of foam.

"I think I'll go out," Effie said suddenly. "I've never seen a really rough sea." She turned to Bruce. "You come, too."

He rose good naturedly. "All right, but only for a short time."

Heather watched smilingly as they crossed the bare land to the cliff edge, Effie clinging to Bruce's arm, his head bent down against the wind.

"It's nice to see a fire," Heather said, and then, "I think I'll just go and see if Caesar is awake."

But Mathews stopped her. "Wait a minute, and let me tell you that you've made me a happier man than I ever thought I could be."

She looked up at him. "I'm glad," she said simply, and then he let her go.

Caesar had awakened when she entered his little sanctum. "It's chilly in here, and we've got a fire in the drawing-room, so won't you come in?"

Caesar followed her and she left him to talk to Henry, while she went to see about supper. It was the Jennings' night out, and so Priddy was in supreme command of the kitchen.

"The apple pudding smells good," Heather said kindly. "Shall I lay the cloth for you, Priddy?"

"It's all laid," Priddy answered complacently. "I believe in getting things done."

Heather went back to the fire and listened while Caesar told Henry Mathews the story of the letter relating to the estate of a William Aston, which had arrived that day, and Heather felt touched and amused when she saw that Henry looked quite resentful, as if he objected to anything that might rob him of his privileges.

"Of course," Caesar said grandly. "It may lead to a dead end, but there is nothing so strange in fiction as there sometimes is in real life, and I must admit that I am filled with optimism."

Bruce and Effie came back, their faces flushed with the wind and the spray. "It's glorious," Effie said with enthusiasm. "The spray broke right over us, didn't it Bruce? Oh, I wish the sea could always be rough."

"I wish Vilette and Bobbie would come in," Heather said.

"I expect the car's broken down," Effie announced, with a look at Bruce. "I'll bet it has it Vilette's been trying to drive."

"She can't do it much harm," Bruce answered. "I'm not worrying." Just then the telephone bell rang. "I'll go," he said, and went out into the hall, closing the door behind him.

When he reopened the door he spoke without entering. "It's for Mr. Mathews," he said, and the door closed again behind both men.

Bruce came back. He stood in the doorway, and in the darkness of the room it was impossible to see his face. "They've rung up from the aerodrome," he said. "Effie was right—the car has broken down. Mathews and I are going over to fetch them."

Heather turned quickly, but he had already gone.

"The aerodrome!" she said, looking at Effie.

Effie shrugged her shoulders. "I knew it! I heard them talking," she said in triumph. "They didn't want me to hear, but I did hear something about going to Plymouth. They are a couple of mean cats! They might have taken me with them."

"But surely they can't have been flying on such an afternoon!" Heather said blankly, and she went quickly to the window. Henry's car was already almost out of sight.

It was a quiet supper table. When supper was over, Heather could not settle to anything, and presently when she felt she would not be missed, she put on a thick coat and slipped out.

It was quite dark, now. The wind took her breath away, but she fought her way down to the main road, the rain beating down on her uncovered head, her hands icy cold.

Why were they so long returning? At last in the distance there was a faint glow of light which grew bigger. She moved out into the middle of the road, groped in the pocket of her mackintosh for a handkerchief, and wiped it.

The car stopped, and Bruce got out, groped through the darkness and found her, holding her fast.

"Heather—why have you come?" and at once she realized that his voice had changed, was unlike his voice, and she said shrilly, "Where are they? Why don't they speak. Aren't they with you? Aren't they with you?" Her voice rose to a cry.

She craned forward towards the car, and although it was too dark to see clearly, instinctively she knew there was nobody with him. She could feel the grip of his arms, and that seemed the only real thing in the world, the one thing that kept her from falling, or from going mad.

"Heather! . . . listen to me . . . you must be brave, Heather."

Jessie Matthews in New Song and Dance Picture, "Head Over Heels in Love"

Dark-eyed Jessie Matthews, the dancing divinity of "It's Love"

Again, and "Evergreen," provides one of the major screen thrills of the year in her new song and dance picture, "Head Over Heels in Love," the GB production which opens at the Dominion Theatre today.

The pliant actress gets under way as the temperamental prima donna of the Paris cafes. The dialogue crackles, the songs are attractive, and the direction by Bonnie Hale is as swiftly-paced as the contagious tunes and merriment.

WEBSTER GIVEN JAIL SENTENCE

Magistrate Saves Prisoner From Penitentiary Owing to His Physical Condition

Kenneth Webster, who through his counsel, P. J. Sinnott, pleaded guilty to the charge of having broken and entered the premises of R. S. Hawkes on Troughton Alley for the purpose of committing an indictable offence, was yesterday given a sentence of two years, less one day with hard labor by Police Magistrate H. C. Hall.

The sentence was made one of incarceration in jail rather than in the penitentiary by the cutting off of one day in view of the plea put forward by Mr. Sinnott that the accused was far advanced with tuberculosis and was being treated for the disease.

Constable John Blackstock testified to the capture of the accused, who had run out of the Troughton Alley premises when the constable, finding the front door unlocked, went to the back door to try it. The constable followed and fired a shot which wounded the accused in the leg. The accused denied he took any money and his counsel said that he just entered the store on finding it unlocked. The owner missed $4.85 from his place. This amount will be taken from the money found on the accused. The accused had a number of previous convictions.

The Danger of Cough Among the Children

In young children a cold or cough is not a thing to be disregarded, as it is often a grave matter, and unless attended to immediately it may eventually cause serious trouble.

On the first sign of a cold or cough the mother will find in Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup just the remedy required. Its promptness and effectiveness in loosening the phlegm is such that the trouble may be checked before anything of a serious nature sets in. Children like it; take it without any fuss.
